Scenic Spot Selected for the Michelin Green Guide

Oirase Mountain Stream

Access 1, Okuse, Towada City, Aomori (JR bus bound for "Towadako Yasumiya" from Shin-Aomori Station, Aomori Station or Hachinohe Station)

The Michelin Green Guide gave the Oirase Keiryu (mountain stream) two stars. Cliffs covered by deep natural forest line both banks of the stream, and the entire 14km path has superb scenery. We highly recommend taking the trek through the pure forest air, taking in its natural beauty, and experiencing changes in the stream throughout the seasons and time of day. The best season for viewing fresh green leaves is from May to early June. The beauty of mid to late October autumn leaves is also popular.

Enjoy a leisurely walk

Blue Lake Towada Reflects the Sky and Mountains Like a Mirror

Lake Towada

Beautiful Lake Towada is a volcanic caldera that reflects the sky and mountains like a mirror. At roughly 46km in circumference and 327m at its deepest point, it is the third deepest lake in Japan. A beech forest and other trees grow around the lake, where the beauty of the four seasons can be enjoyed by seeing vibrant green during spring and summer, deep-colored leaves during autumn, and a silver woodland scene during winter. Despite being a northern lake at a high elevation, this lake doesn't freeze over during the winter, and due to this, it is referred to as "the Mysterious Lake".

Access 1, Towada City, Aomori (1 hour and 30 minutes by car from JR Shin-Aomori Station)

Superb View of 2,600 Cherry Trees (Sakura) and a White-walled Castle

Hirosaki Castle

Hirosaki Castle in Hirosaki Park, built in the Edo period, has the northernmost castle tower*1 in Japan and is designated as an important national cultural property. Its extensive castle walls in their original form being opened as a park is rare in Japan. There are about 2,600 Sakura in the park, and many people come for the blossoms in the spring. Seeing the Sakura in full bloom and Hirosaki Castle is like a time slip back to the Edo period. The very popular Hirosaki Cherry Blossom Festival held in late April or early May has about two million visitors from Japan and overseas. <*1 The tallest structure in the castle. >

Around 50 varieties of Sakura

Warriors from Tsugaru brought 25 Kasumi zakura from Kyoto in 1715, and presently 2,600 trees of 50 varieties including Somei yoshino, Shidare zakura and Yae zakura are growing in Hirosaki Park. The outer moat when covered in Sakura petals is called a "Sakura carpet" and is a marvelous sight.

Access 1, Shimoshiroganecho, Hirosaki City, Aomori (10 minutes by taxi from JR Hirosaki Station)

Walking Route to Experience Nature in Grand Shirakami-Sanchi

Shirakami-Sanchi and Jyuniko

Shirakami-Sanchi, a World Heritage Site, is in a mountain range which borders on Aomori and Akita prefectures. The pristine natural beech forest, largely unaffected by humans and one of the largest in the world, has many trekking routes for a unique nature experience. An especially popular trek is the 12 pond walk route with the cobalt blue Aoike (blue pond) and the emerald green Wakitsubo pond. There is little up and down so it's easy for beginning trekkers too. Enjoy nature's beautiful colors, fresh green, crimson leaves and bright colored birds.

Access 1-56, Matsukami, Fukauramachi, Nishitsugarugun, Aomori (Mori-no-Bussankan Kyororo : About 15 minutes by shuttle bus from JR Jyuniko Station)

About 5500 Year Old Jomon Village Site

Special Historical Site Sannai-Maruyama Site

This is the biggest Jomon village site in Japan and is designated as a special historical site. Excavation and research undertaken since 1992 has uncovered the remains of pit houses, burial pits of adults and children, storage pits, and close to 2000 other relics. Some of the highlights include the reconstructed large pit-dwellings and large pillar-supported buildings. At the Jomon Jiyukan you can learn about the lives of the Jomon people through exhibits and array of activities such as making 'Magatama' beads and 'Dogu' miniature clay dolls.

Access 305, Maruyama, Oazasannai, Aomori City, Aomori (About 20 minutes by car from JR Aomori Station, and 10 minutes by car from JR Shin-Aomori Station)

Popular Local Dish is a Unique Food Sensation

Hachinohe Sembei (Crispy Thin Cracker) Soup

A local dish of Hachinohe is sembei made with flour and salt put in a soup stock of meat, fish, mushrooms and vegetables, then cooked. This sembei developed for soups, is chewy when cooked, and has a pleasant texture similar to al dente pasta. Many foods also go well with the rich tasty soy sauce flavored soup. Hachinohe City has about 140 restaurants that offer the dish so it's fun to try and compare their dishes.

Production share of 60%

Apples

Aomori's apple history started from three seedlings planted in the Aomori Prefectural Government grounds in 1875, and now, Aomori grows about 60% of Japan's apples. The percentage for each variety is Fuji 50%, Orin, Jonagold, and Tsugaru each have 10% and other varieties make up the rest. Some of the processed goods made with the apples are juice, apple cider, jam, dressing and vinegar and they all make excellent gifts.

Osoresan is one of the three most famous holy mountains in Japan

Osoresan (Mt. Osore)

Gokuraku Beach with its mysterious bleak bare rock and white sand enveloped in the odor of sulfur, and the clear emerald green of the sea, along with Sainokawara entice you to visit a fantasy world with scenery that seems to be from both heaven and hell. There's also an onsen (hot spring) on the temple grounds and shrine visitors can bathe there to relieve their tiredness.

A Place that Connects Our World to the Other World

Osoresan (Mt. Osore) Sanmon (temple gate)

Osoresan on the Shimokita Peninsula, and Hieizan and Koyasan are the three most famous holy mountains in Japan, and visitors come to visit Osoresan from all over Japan. In the summer there's the Osoresan grand festival, and in autumn during the Osoresan Akimairi (fall temple visit) season, many people visit in remembrance of the spirits of the dead. At Osoresan you can sense the sacredness of a place that inherits and protects the culture of the northernmost region of Japan's mainland.

The Golden Heart of Hiraizumi

Chuson-ji Temple

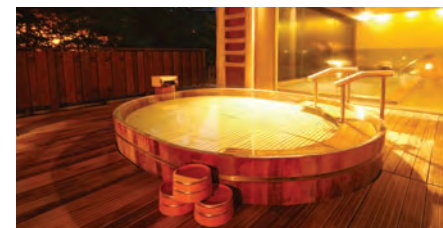

Chuson-ji Temple was accepted in the World Heritage Registry in 2011, and is the home of the Konjikido (Golden Hall). First built in 1124 by Hiraizumi's ruler, Kiyohira Fujiwara, this shrine embodies the height of Heian craftsmanship. Coated inside and out with gold leaf, and further embellished with detailed engravings, inlays, and ornaments, the Konjikido speaks clearly to Hiraizumi's historical wealth and prosperity. The addition of the Buddha icons evokes the Buddhist afterlife, a paradise said to be watched over by the Buddha and lit by a golden radiance. Making your way through the hilltop temple complex, surrounded by ancient trees, you may just feel as if you're in a moment out of time. The natural surroundings offer diverse views in every season, including cherry blossoms in spring, fresh greenery and flowers in summer, blazing autumn foliage, and a white blanket of snow in winter.

Access 202, Koromonoseki, Hiraizumi, Hiraizumicho, Nishiwaigun, Iwate (About a 20 minute walk from JR Hiraizumi Station)

The Fujiwara Clan's Eternal Repose

The Konjikido is not just a shrine, but also a mausoleum for the Fujiwara clan, Hiraizumi's 12th century founders and rulers. Though not visible to the public, the mummified remains of Kiyohira, Motohira, Hidehira, and Yasuhira, the four generations of Fujiwara leaders, lie interred in golden caskets beneath the altar.

An Onsen Resort to Enjoy Diverse Hot Springs

Hanamaki Onsen and Hanamakiminami Onsen Village

Underground Lake Shines a Mysterious Blue

Ryusendo Cave

As one of the 'Three Great Limestone Caves', Ryusendo Cave is a popular spot where you can see many limestone rocks while advancing through mysterious spaces. The highlight of the cave is the illuminated and very transparent underground pool. It glistens with a beautiful color called dragon blue. Enjoy passing through a spot called Moon Palace, a formation of overlapping rocks which has a heart-shape. Artwork of the two dragons' heads form shapes of heart, and is great date spot for couples. The cave temperature is always a cool 10 degrees Celsius, so be sure to bring something warm to wear even in summer.

Three Major Noodles of Morioka You Should Eat

Morioka Reimen (Cold Noodles), Wanko Soba and Morioka Jajamen

If you come to Morioka, be sure to eat Morioka Reimen, Wanko Soba and Morioka Jajamen. Morioka Reimen are noodles with robust body in cold soup, topped by meat, vegetables, Kimchi and fruits pieces. Its looking is splendid too. The distinctive feature of Wanko Soba is a waitress serves you small amount of noodles one after another until you are full and can't eat. Morioka Jajamen is boiled flat udon with special meat miso sauce and shredded cucumbers eaten with ginger, vinegar and chili oil. It also can be finished off by adding a egg soup and enjoyed as "Chitan Soup".

Seafood Stuffed in a Bottle Pour It on Rice and Eat !

Bindon (Bottled Rice Bowl)

Bindon is a specialty of Miyako: sea urchin roe, salmon roe, and other seasonal food of Miyako are stuffed in a milk bottle. It's also beautiful to look at: it looks like a bottle filled with jewels. Arrange the content of the bottle on a bowl of hot rice, and eat. What makes this dish special is that it uses the five senses while seeing, arranging to eating. Be sure to eat this if you come to Miyako.

Pork with a Tender and Sophisticated Taste

Hakkin Pork

Hakkin Pork is a pork brand raised in Hanamaki City, Iwate Prefecture. The taste of this incredibly tender meat becomes even more delicious the more you chew, and if you try Hakkin Pork, you won't want to eat other pork because of its tenderness and high-quality fattiness which melts in your mouth without an off taste. We recommend it for people who like pork as steak or cutlets.

Pounded Rice Cylinders Toasted Over an Open Hearth

Kiritampo (Rice Cylinders)

Kiritampo Nabe is Akita's most recognizable dish. 'Tampo' refers to cooked rice wrapped on a skewer which is then baked. Long and narrow in shape, this spear-like cylinder can be cut in half or into thirds which is how it earned the name 'Kiri (cut) tampo.' Chicken, burdock, mushrooms, and other ingredients are cooked together in a soy sauce broth, creating a simple but delicious hot pot dish which is well-loved in Akita. Be sure to try Akita's taste of home.

Inaniwa Udon

Inaniwa Udon is dried udon noodles made by skilled artisans. They are thick bodied, and have a smooth feel on the tongue. In the strainer, the noodles have a shiny luster and an elasticity that slides smoothly down your throat. Making them takes three to four days and a lot of effort. These noodles are valuable as they are not mass produced so they are popular as a special gift.

Unique Full-bodied Noodles Only Found in Akita

Unique Texture Captivates Chicken Lovers

Hinai Chickens

Reputed as one of the top three chickens, the Hinai Free-range Chickens have a unique firm texture and a full bodied umami flavor. Its high rating lends to the fact that nothing is wasted from this chicken as a rich stock is made from the bones and meat, and the birds' flavor-rich eggs are also a real treat. Yakitori (grilled chicken), Oyakodon (chicken and egg rice bowl) and hot pots made with Hinai Chicken have an unforgettable taste.

The particular raising method.

Different from a broiler chicken, they are raised as free-range chickens. Each chicken having about 3.3 to 5 square meters is the standard. Only females are selected and are carefully raised for a long period of about six months.

Yamadera Risshaku-ji Temple

The Hoshusan Risshaku-ji Temple, commonly called Yamadera, was built in 860 AD. It has vast temple grounds of 1.9M square meters, and in it more than 30 large and small temple buildings remain. Especially famous are the 1015 stone steps to the summit. Along the one hour walk from the trailhead to the Great Buddha Hall inner sanctuary can be found the Godaido hall, the best scenic spot of Yamadera, offering a splendid view of the surrounding rural landscape. Yamadera is a popular praying destination that has many attractions.

Reset Your Body and Mind at these Three Mountains

Dewa Sanzan (Three Mountains of Dewa)

Dewa Sanzan consists of three mountains: Mt. Haguro, Mt. Gassan, and Mt. Yudono. They've been loved since ancient times as sacred mountains. The trip is said to be a rebirth journey with Mr. Haguro representing your present life, Mt. Gassan your past life and Mt. Yudono your future life.

Access Tsuruoka City, Yamagata (Mt. Haguro: About 55 minutes by bus from JR Tsuruoka Station, Mt. Gassan: About 2 hours and 5 minutes by bus from JR Tsuruoka Station [The bus only runs during summer], Mt. Yudono: About 50 minutes by car from JR Tsuruoka Station)

Feel the Culture of The Uesugi Warrior Clan

Uesugi Shrine

Uesugi-jinja Shrine was built on the site of Yonezawa Castle to enshrine Uesugi Kenshin, the bravest warrior in the Sengoku period, who is also known as "God of War". The most part of the shrine was destroyed by the Great Fire of Yonezawa during the Taisho period, but it rebuilt a few years later. The shrine was designed by Ito Chuta, the pioneer of shrine architecture from Yonezawa City. There is Keishoden, the treasure house with a large collection of Important Cultural Properties related to the Uesugi clan, in the precincts, and Yonezawa City Uesugi Museum is also located near the house.

Access 1-4-13 Marunouchi, Yonezawa-shi, Yamagata (Take a bus from JR Yonezawa Sta. and get off at Uesugi Jinja-mae Bus Stop)

Enjoy Hot Springs, Skiing and Snow Monsters

Zao Onsen

Zao Onsen thrives as a resort area where people can enjoy hot springs, ski and snow monsters. The abundant hot spring water comes from a strong acidic sulfur spring that is said to be highly effective for beautiful skin and health. The hot spring can be enjoyed casually at one of the three public baths as the entrance to each (Kamiyu, Shimoyu and Kawayayu) is just 200 yen. They are close to each other so we recommend trying them all.

Access Zao Onsen Yamagata City, Yamagata (About 40 minutes by bus from JR Yamagata Station)

A Hot Spring Resort with 560 years of History

Kaminoyama Onsen (Hot Spring)

Kaminoyama's onsen (natural hot spring) baths are scattered throughout the six districts of the city. You can enjoy a unique onsen tour of the five open-air baths. We also recommend visiting the footbaths scattered around town while strolling through the historic castle area in your yukata (casual kimono). The rotenburo (outdoor baths) at the traditional ryokan (Japanese inns) have beautiful views of the majestic Zao mountain range, and you can also use a free shuttle bus to enjoy the nature environment of Zao.

Access Kamiyama City, Yamagata (About 5 minutes by car from Kaminoyama Onsen Station, About 5 minutes by car from Tohoku-Chuo Expressway Kaminoyama Onsen Interchange)

Jelly fish with an artistic form

Recognized in Guinness World Records! Aquarium with the Most Kinds of Jellyfish

Kamo Aquarium

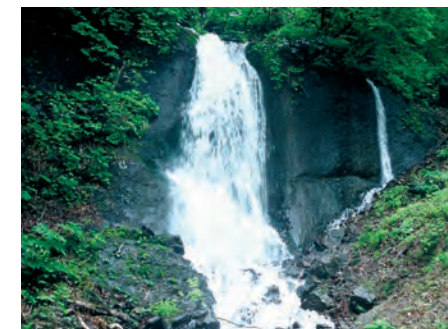

Kamo Aquarium's nickname is Jellyfish Dream House. There are over 50 types of jellyfish, and it was recognized in Guinness World Records for having the most kinds of them in 2012. The rounded water tank holding 40 tons of water with about 2,000 Aurelia jellyfish swimming in it is a must-see attraction. Jellyfish goods and jellyfish ice cream sold only here are pretty popular.

Access 657-1, Imaizumiokubo, Tsuruoka City, Yamagata (About 35 minutes by bus from JR Tsuruoka Station)

Four Dramatic Waterfalls

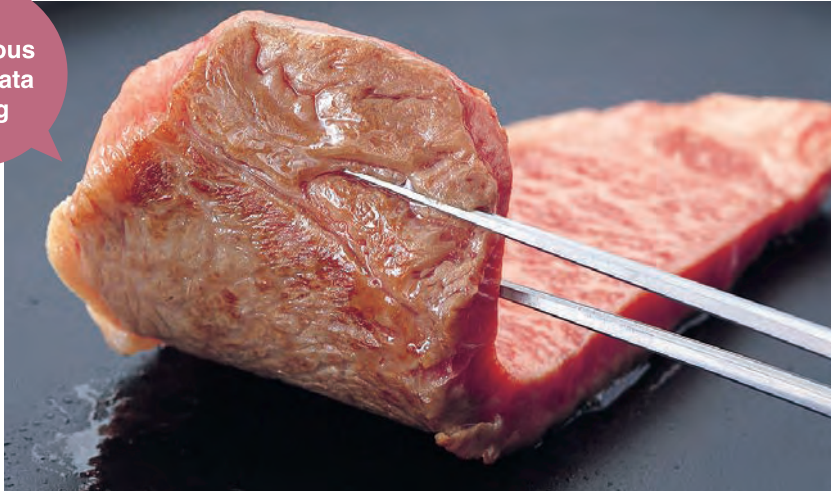

Yozotoge (Yozo Pass)

Yozotoge is a 685m high pass that connects Sakegawa Village and Sakata City. Walking along the path nearby the river, you'll see four waterfalls discovered in 1993. Every June, there are many people who participate in the nature tour such as viewing beautiful beech trees and varied aspects of waterfalls.

Access Oashizawa, Sakegawa Village, Yamagata (About 1 hour by car from JR Shinjo Station)

High Quality Beef Raised in the Climate and Natural Features of Yamagata

Yonezawa Beef

One of Japan's most famous wagyu (Japanese beef) is Yonezawa Beef. Used in Yamagata's premium dining, this fully marbled meat not only has a delicious taste but also melts in your mouth, and there are many famous restaurants in Yonezawa City which serve this beef. Its deliciousness can be savored in many ways including grilled as steak, cooked in shabu-shabu hotpot and in various other meat dishes.

The Tradition of Yonezawa
Beef was Started by a Teacher from England.

It's said that four-legged animals were not eaten in Yonezawa at the start of the Meiji period, but after British teacher Charles Henry Dallas ate some of the Wagyu beef, its use as a food source began. Surprised by how tasty it was, Mr. Dallas took a cow back to Yokohama with him and from there its consumption spread throughout Japan.

Three Famous Fruits of Yamagata

Cherries, La France Pears and Grapes

Yamagata Prefecture grows about 70% of Japan's cherries. The harvest season is from April to July and in there are many orchards in the prefecture to try cherry picking and eat them off the trees. Yamagata also has about 80% share of La France pear production. The harvest season is from October to January and their sophisticated sweetness and juicy tenderness makes them popular as a gift. Grapes cultivation in Yamagata dates back about 400 years with fairly abundant varieties such as Kyoho, Takao and Pione. Fresh and tasty fruits can be had throughout the year in Yamagata.

Beautiful Art Created by Nature

Snow Monsters and Illumination

The world-famous snow monsters, known as juhyo, are soft rime covered trees, a beautiful work of art only on display in winter. If you take the ropeway from the Zao Onsen resort in the afternoon you can observe the snow monster forest below, and if you ski or snowboard, you can enjoy sliding nearby and see them up close. The snow monsters are also illuminated on some nights to create an absolutely fantastic scenery.

Access  ZAO Ropeway Jizosanchō Station and around the Sancho Line (About 40 minutes by bus from JR Yamagata Station to Zao Onsen Bus Terminal, then a 10 minute walk to the Zao Ropeway Sanroku Station)

A Fascinating and Dynamic Dance

Yamagata Hanagasa Festival

This is a summer festival that shows off Yamagata City. Accompanying the call of "yassho makasho" and sound of drums, over 10,000 performers parade and dance to the Hanagasa-ondo song. The dynamic scene of the dancers wearing elegant kimono and holding kasa hats with safflower decorations dancing in unison helps you to discover Japanese traditions. It's a splendid festival that colors the Yamagata midsummer night.

Date 🏰 Held from mid-October to mid-November

Access 📍 1-1, Otemachi Aizuwakamatsu City, Fukushima (About 10 minutes by bus from JR Aizuwakamatsu Station)

Tsuruga-jo Castle Park is illuminated for the autumn leaves beginning from mid-October until early November. Brightly colored autumn leaves seem more vivid thanks to the special lighting used to illuminate the park. Besides the crimson leaves and stone walls, other sites of interest are illuminated under the starry night sky. Daytime Tsuruga-jo Castle is well worth seeing too.

Take a Dip in Alleviating Waters at Three Famous and Unique Onsen

Iizaka Onsen (Hot Spring), Takayu Onsen and Tsuchiyu Onsen

At the long established Iizaka Onsen that sits alongside the Surikamikawa River, there are several Ryokan (Japanese style inns). There are nine public baths which you can visit casually, so try as many as you like. Many people visit Takayu Onsen for its water quality and skin beautifying properties held by this milky sulfur spring water. At Tsuchiyu Onsen which sits alongside a mountain stream, you can enjoy a bountiful flow of water and 13 different water types. As each onsen area has been noted for their recuperative value from long ago, there are many people who stay at them for long periods. Relieve tiredness from traveling while taking in Japan's beautiful natural scenery.

Access 📍 Iizaka Onsen: Yuzawa, Iizaka-cho, Fukushima City, Fukushima (From JR Fukushima Station transfer to the Fukushima Kotsu Iizaka Line and after about 25 minutes get off at Iizaka Onsen)

Chaotic History Calmly Relayed by a Castle

Komine Castle

Komine Castle is a renowned castle that was largely rebuilt by Niwa Nagashige in 1632, during the early Edo period. The beautiful stone-walled and graceful Sanjyuyagura castle was largely burned down during the Boshin War (1868 to 1869). But, it was faithfully restored using wood in the Heisei era (1989 to 2019) based on excavation, research and Edo period drawings. It's also been selected as one of Japan's Top 100 Castles.
